

Misinterpreted Street Signs

Episode 1

"Emergency Vehicles Entering Ahead"

By

Ian Terrell

Draft 1.0 - 6/8/11

Ian Terrell

ian.terrell@gmail.com

<http://www.ianterrell.com/emergency-vehicles-entering-ahead/>

This script is licensed under the Creative Commons Attribution-ShareAlike 3.0 Unported License

Read more here: <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by-sa/3.0/>

PAGE 1

PANEL 1

We're looking at a four lane strip of road without a median. In the distance is a fire house. In the foreground is a street sign that reads "EMERGENCY VEHICLES ENTERING AHEAD".

It's a beautiful, sunny, idyllic day. A few cars are on the road, there are pedestrians on the sidewalk enjoying a stroll; one's walking her dog. It's quite beautiful.

PANEL 2

Same view, but it's now night time. No cars are on the road, no pedestrians are out walking. It's completely deserted except for a teenage hoodlum. He's dressed in a dark hoodie, and you see him writing on the sign with a black magic marker.

PANEL 3

Same view, but now it's the next day. Again it's sunny and beautiful. This time, in the distance, a car is turning onto the main road from a side street. The youth has added an exclamation point and the sign now reads "EMERGENCY! VEHICLES ENTERING AHEAD".

In the foreground, a woman has her hands up and is screaming bloody murder at the "emergency."

REFERENCE

<http://www.pbase.com/csw62/image/52169520>